I hear the wild bee wind his horn, The bird swings on the ripened wheat.
The long green lances of the corn
Are tilting in the winds of morn,
The locust shrills his song of heat.

Another sound my spirit hears—
A deeper sound that drowns them all—
A voice of pleading choked with tears,
The call of human hopes and fears, The Macedonian cry to Paul!

The storm-bell rings, the trumpet blows; I know the word and countersign; Wherever Freedom's vanguard goes, Where stand or fall her friends or foes I know the place that should be mine.

Shamed be the hands that idly fold, And lips that woo the reed's accord, When laggard Time the hour has tolled For true with false and new with old To fight the battles of the Lord !

Oh, beothers! blest by partial fate
With power to match the will and deed,
To him your summons comes too late
Who sinks beneath his armor's weight,
And has no answer but God-speed! A GOOD STORY.

The well known correspondent of the Boston Journal, who writes under the signature "Burleigh," thus relates the story of Grant's re-entrance into the United States army at the outbreak of the rebellion:

"Four years ago, Mrs. Grant lived in her quiet home in Galena. Her husband was Mr. Grant, the leather dealer, a plain, modest, reliable man, without much apparent force, who attracted very little attention any way. The war had commenced. The flag had been shot away from Sumter, and a shot fired out of a rebel cannon at Memphis. One morning Mr. Grant called on Senator Washburne, who resides in Calona. sides in Galena. He told Mr. W. that he did not feel right—that he could not sleep nights that he felt that he was not doing his duty.— Washburne asked him what was the matter Mr. Grant replied, "I am doing nothing for my country. I have been educated at the Nation's but here I am at home doing nothing. don't know what to do. I am no politician I don't know what to do. I am no politician. I don't seem to be wanted anywhere, yet I feel as if I were able to do something, if I could only find my place." Mr. Washburne invited his neighbor to accompany him to Springfield, where an important consultation was to be held at the request of Governor Yates. On the morning of the fourth day, Mr. Grant called at Mr. Washburne's room, and said to him: "Nobody knows me here—there is nothing for me to do —I am going home." "Hold on a day longer," said Mr. Washburne. The next day an important discussion was held in the council chamber. At. Mr. Washburne's request, Mr. Gran was called in. He held an interview with the State authorities for thirty minutes, and then went out. As the door closed, Governor Yates called out, "Good God. Washburne, who is this called out, "Good God. Washburne, who is this man? I have learned more about troops in this thirty minutes than I knew in all my life. All I can do for him is to put him on my staff. You go home and raise a regiment, and I'll commission him as Coloucl." The thing was done.—The rest of the story the world knows by heart.

A Grasshopper Plague Coming. The Milwaukie (Wisconsin Sentinel of June

"General Sully, in a private letter from Sioux City, gives the following interesting account of the grasshoopper plauge which is desolating the region of country he has traveled. He says:— They are awful; they actually have eaten holes in my wagon covern and in the 'paulips that cover my stores. A soldier on his way here laid down to sleep in the middle of the day on the prairie—the troops had been marching all night. His comrads noticed him covered with grasshoppers and woke him. His throat and wrists were bleeding from the bites of these insects. This is no fiction. Last year, about five days' marched from the Yellew Stone, we met the army of grasshoppers on their way east.

After that I suffered greatly for grass, and many of my animals died. The grasshoppers made a general cleaning down to this place, and here disappeared. This year they appeared very small, at first, but they are fast growing, and getting wings, when I suppose they will start somewhere else. These insects that have ap-peared this year are no doubt from the eggs of those last year, for there are none above Randall, or far east of this. I wonder what the Quartermaster-General in Washington would say if he should receive a report of tents, wagon covers, and 'paulins unserviceable and con-demned, caten up by grasshoppers.'" A Remarkable Cow-She Marched over 1,- 200 Miles. There is a cow in Washington, D. C., which marched with Sherman's army from Atlanta, Ga.; and during all the time, from Nov. 1, 1864 to May 19, she averaged a gallon of milk a day At Washington she was presented by Brevet Major General J. D. Morgan to the Soldiers' Home for the use of that institution. Long may she live. The distance of her marches are: From Atlanta to Savannah, 326 miles. From Savannah to Goldsborough, N. C., 471 miles. From Gouldsborough to Cape Fear River, 81 miles. From Cape Fear River to Washington via Richmond, Va., 342 miles. Total 1,220.—

She traveled from Morrisville, N. C., to Richmond, Va., a distance of 177 miles, in seven days, and from Richmond to Washington, distance 149 miles, in eight days. She is now in excellent condition, and gives 11/4 gallons of rich milk per day.

Confederation of Burglars and Incendiaries The Toronto Leader makes the following startling announcement:

"There is reason to believe that the confederacy of burglars and thieves is much more extensive than the evidence given before the Hamilton Recorder indicates; that it not only embraces most of the principal towns of Canada but extends also to the United States. It is difficult to educe the evidence; but it is hoped this difficulty will be overcome. This confederacy recalls to recollection the once celebrated Markham gang,' but that combination of thieves, extensive as it was, is believed to be much less formidable than the one whose deeds are now being dragged to light."

Locusts in Syria. A letter from Syria, dated May 3d, says:-"The second crop of locusts is now hatching out and a new swarm of the flying kind has also come on from the South. In some parts of the country they are devouring every green thing. Millions have fallen into the sea, and the wave have cast them up on the sea shore in winrows. Yesterday they almost darkened the sky, and the noise of their flying was like the noise of a flock of quails."

A Ferocious Elephant Has been committing frightful ravages in a northwestern province of Hindostan. He was taken for a marriage procession, but suddenly became wild and pulled down a number of huts and trees The next day he became wilder still, and one of the mahoots in attempting to chain his legs was seized by the trunk and trampled under foot, the elephant keeping the corpse of the man under his feet for two successive days. actually grinding it to dust. That very day he struck down a Brahmin and smashed his head; Farming Implements, two other men were severely injured, and most of the inhabitants of Kotulpore have, is said, run away from the village for fear of the brute.

A Terrible Torundo Passed over the country near Red Wing, Minnesota, on the 16th inst., destroying life and damaging much property. A man seeing its approach, jumped from his carriage and by clinging to a tree. saved himself, but his horse and carriage were taken away between heaven and earth. The horse was found in a tree top the next day 70 rods from the spot. A Mrs. Streeter was carried off in her house and killed.

A correspondent proposes a new way to kill rats. His own house being overrun with the vermin, a servant girl who had seen the effect of "old Bourbon whisky" on bipeds, thought she would try an experiment on the rats. Accordingly, she took a small quantity, made it very sweet with sugar, crumbled in bread enough for the crowd, and set the dish in the cellar. A few hours after she went down and found several rats gloriously "fuddled," engaged in throwing potato parings and hauling one another up to drink. These were easily dis-posed of; those not killed left the premises immediately, suffering with a severe headache.

THE HISTORY OF DR. SCHENCE'S OWN CASE, AND HOW HE WAS CURED OF CONSUMPTION. Many years ago, whilst residing in Philidelphia, I had progressed gradually into the last stage of Pulmonary Consumption. All hopes of my recovery being dissipated, I was advised by my physician, Dr. Patrish, to remove into the country. Moorestown, New Jersey, being my native place, I was removed theither. My father and all his family had lived and died there-and died of Pulmonary Consumption .-On my arrival I was put to bed, where I lay superior instrument, larger, and with an eveness of tone many weeks in what was deemed a hopeless not herefore obtained by any other Meledeon manufacturer. In this appearantly hopeless condition, I heard of the remedies which I now make and sell. It seemed to me that I could feel them working their way, and penetrating every nerve, fibre, and tissue of my system.

My lungs and liver put on a new action, and the morbid matter which for years had accumulated and irritated the different organs of the body, was eliminated, the tubercles of my longs ripened, and I expectorated from my lungs as much as a pint of yellow offensive matter every morning. As this expectoration of matter sub-sided, the fever abated, the pain left me, the cough ceased to harrass me, and the exhausting night-sweets were no longer known, and I had refreshing sleep, to which I had long been a stranger. My appetite now began to return, and at times I found it difficult to restrain myself from eating too much; with this return of health, I gained in strength, and now am fleshy.
I am now a healthy man, with a large bealed cicatrix in the middle lobe of the right lung and the lower lobe hepatized with complete adhesion of the plcura. The left lung is sound, and the upper lobe of the right one is in a tolerably Consumption at that time was thought to be an incurable disease, by every one, physicians as well as those who were unlearned in medicine-especially such cases as were reduced to the condition I was in.
